

Mentor is a course management and assessment system for K-12 and higher education institutions. It effectively manages the assessment of student learning outcomes with a totally integrated solution that includes components for Assessment, Course Management (CMS), Reflective Portfolios, Institutional Data Analytics and Reporting, Faculty Activity Reporting, Institutional Document Management, General Survey and Testing, Student Course Evaluation and Institutional Review Board (IRB) Protocol Management. These components are available as a total package that will support the entire institution or as individual parts to support singular instructors. Mentor is easily configured in the way that works best for each institution's pedagogical and administrative needs.

The full version takes what used to be a very manual process and seamlessly automates the information for administration, faculty and students in an integrated and very affordable package. Mentor is fully hosted by Axiom Education which means no extra IT support costs.

Mentor was developed by Professor Curtis Naser of Fairfield University and has supported accreditations for AACSB, NEASC, NCATE and a variety of program reviews. Professor Naser is a well respected member of the educational assessment community and his perspective as an educator has resulted in a solution that is powerful yet intuitive.
